Closed Circuit Only

Local TV Station Will Open Soon

Subscribers to the Hazard Television Company's booster cable will soon be seeing locally-originated programs on a closed circuit.

Workmen are busy now making over a room next to the WKIC radio station in the Daniel Eblen Building into a television broadcasting studio.

A spokesman for the company said today the station will begin broadcasting in about a month, for two hours a day initially.

The programs will consist mainly of sports, news, church programs and advertising to be given with, and will be beamed only to the 800 customers of the booster cable.

WKIC's radio staff will be in charge of programming, which will go out on Channel 4.

The cameras and other broadcasting equipment are here now, awaiting installation.

The company's spokesman said the station will be technically capable of broadcasting a full schedule, but difficulties in arranging programs will limit the number of hours on the air, at least at first.

The Hazard Television Company was one of the first such firms in Kentucky. It went into business about 10 years ago.

Some other Kentucky cities with similar closed circuit local television facilities are London, Cumberland and Winchester.

Kiwanians Hear Wilson On Summary Of Events In 1964

At the regular Kiwanis Club meeting Tuesday evening, at Don's Restaurant, Attorney Grover C. Wilson presented a highly informative and entertaining summary of events and happenings during 1964.

Mr. Wilson outlined the outstanding events on the local, state, international and even the universal level by his comprehensive report of the various space vehicles now in use, in the experimental stage or in the planning stage. The speaker predicted a successful Moon Rocket flight by 1970.

Locally the roving pickets, the "student" welfare visitors and the poverty picture played a part in our news. We elected a new Circuit Judge in the person of Past President (Kiwanis) Don A. Ward. Other newsworthy events mentioned were Urban Renewal, this question being settled via the ballot; new store fronts on Main Street; strip mining problems; one business failure; retirement of one businessman; persistent growth of our three banking institutions with over a million dollars of new money in 1964; the battle for survival of two suits for the fairer sex; wild new dances, and face powder made from corn cobs.

Kiwanian M. H. Alcorn, Sr., was program chairman for the evening. Guests at the meeting were Paul Wagner, new Manager local GMAC office; Jack Stivers, Lexington, Ky.; and Kiwanian Estill Nicholson from the Jackson Kiwanis Club.

Negro Newspaper Admitted To KPA

The Louisville Defender, Kentucky's only Negro newspaper and one of the state's oldest weeklies, was received as a member of the Kentucky Press Association at the organization's annual mid-winter meeting in Louisville last weekend.

Twelve of the 14 members of KPA's Executive Committee voted to accept the Defender, a decision approved by the great majority of the Association's representative body.

Fire Hits Roof Of Perry Furniture

A fire on High Street this afternoon did major damage to the roof of the Perry Furniture Exchange Building.

Hazard Fire Chief Lawrence Sizemore reported that workmen were on the roof putting tar on it. They reportedly started heating the tar on top of the building and a stiff breeze aided in giving the fire a good start.

The blaze cracked a window in the apartment of Tony Hall but did not break it.

Chief Sizemore said that had the window been broken by the blaze a bad fire could have resulted.

Increase In Funds for Rural Roads

A 59.8 per cent increase in funds for rural and rural secondary construction has coincided with an increase in federal participation in Kentucky highway building, the Kentucky Association of Highway Contractors was told in Hollywood, Florida, Friday.

The association, meeting at its annual convention, got the report from Gilbert W. Kingsbury, Executive Director of the Kentucky Better Roads Council. He spoke at today's final meeting.

Kingsbury pointed out that the construction and modernization of Kentucky's highways has increased traffic with a result that the state road building fund also reached record levels. "When Uncle Sam participates to the amount of 90 per cent, this releases pressure on the fund and enables more money to be spent on rural roads," he said.

The same trend has been noted in other states, the Kentucky Better Roads Council Director reported.

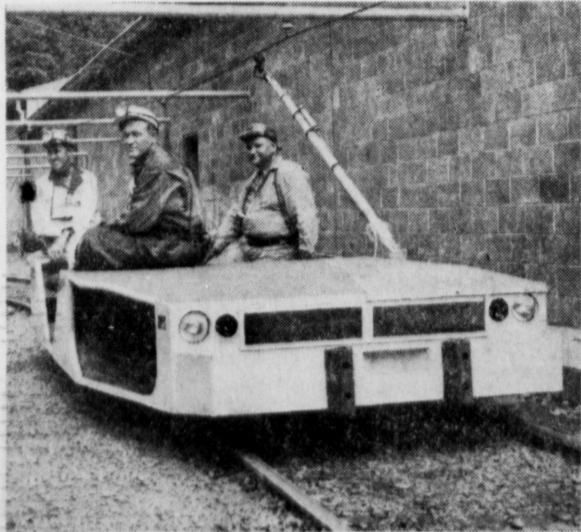

He also warned that states surrounding Kentucky are stepping up their highway construction programs to meet the Kentucky competition for the tourist dollar and industrial development.

"Less than a year ago the voters of Ohio approved a $500,000,000 construction program.

West Virginia, last November, voted a $200,000,000 and Indiana has set up a commission to become the first state in the nation to complete its interstate system," Kentucky contractors were told.

He added that Ohio is planning a $100,000,000 park expansion program with the idea that many Buckeye tourists will be enticed to stay at home rather than visit Kentucky resorts and lakes.

The Kentucky Council, Kingsbury said, is studying the Highway Department's financial program to determine what steps might be taken to continue the Kentucky construction and modernization program.

Anti-Poverty Requires Unity

It is to the credit of Judge Noplis and the Magistrates of the Fiscal Court that they have taken the initiative they have in getting the ball rolling in the war on poverty. While perhaps too much time has been expended in talk and planning, the Court took positive action when it drew up a formal request for money to hire a professional planner and staff for the

UK Has A Birthday

The University of Kentucky has just celebrated its 100th anniversary. The birthday marked the rise of the state's principal seat of higher learning from a small college of agriculture in the 1860's to a vast, modern, "multiversity" of the nuclear age.

The University is often spoken of as being "on the edge of greatness" and striving for "a margin of excellence" that will render the Commonwealth increasingly valuable service as the years go by.

Those of us across the state who support the University with our taxes can be assured that our money is well spent, that if a margin of excellence is indeed possible, then the institution's present administration will find it.

Dr. John W. Oswald is one of the most dynamic educators in the nation today, and Kentucky is indeed fortunate in having him to guide the fortunes of its University.

One of the things Dr. Oswald has often remarked upon in his short time in Kentucky is the widespread support for the University he has observed in every section of the state.

It is comforting to know that this kind of support exists in Kentucky now. There was a time when the University had to literally beg for every penny it got from a traditionally tightwad legislature.

Apparently that time is gone forever. Apparently the people have quit asking, "Can we afford a University?" and are saying instead, "We can't afford to be without one, and a great one."

If this kind of attitude does indeed prevail across our state, then the University has the best birthday present it could hope for.

County. This needed to be done. Congratulations to the men who did it.

The idea of an organization to act as an action arm on behalf of the county is also a good one. Here again the Court showed quick initiative when it had such an organization incorporated, with a minimum of fuss and delay. The organization, the Perry County Advisory Committee, exists now, with legally appointed officers.

In the interests of time and expediency, the Fiscal Court has or soon will appoint 12 men to sit on this Committee. The advantage of direct appointment is that it gets the ball rolling. It gets an organization to functioning rapidly and capitalizes on the valuable element of time, too much of which has already been lost. A glance at the Court's tentative appointees indicates that an effort has been made to find men who represent all walks of life, and interests, in the County.

But the appointment of individuals to such an important committee has built-in disadvantages that are liable to multiply as the war on poverty moves along. Disadvantages that could be a burden to a group trying honestly to help the general public, and we would suggest an alternative.

It would seem that staffing the Committee would be an excellent opportunity to blend together the two all-county organizations, PCDA and PCAC. Membership in PCDA is achieved by inviting, not selected individuals, but representative groups around the county to send delegates chosen by the various organizations. PCAC should do the same thing, in cooperation with PCDA.

The Advisory Committee, which will have the responsibility of spending great sums of money, on behalf of the people, should expand its membership from 12 to about 20, and derive those 20 people from a variety of sources, 20 individuals whose identity would be unknown to both PCDA and PCAC until they met the first time. Such a group would represent a variety of interests and opinions, just as our County is made up of a variety of people. Decisions made by that kind of group would, in the long run, be far more palatable to the general public, for whose benefit the anti-poverty money is to be spent.

A meeting of leaders of both organizations is in order, and, indeed, even necessary, if Perry County's war on poverty is to be unified by common interests. We hope such a meeting occurs very soon, a meeting of open minds concerned only with poverty in our County. We commend our above recommendations as to the structure of the Advisory Committee to that meeting, and would add this further thought:

To really get at the core of conditions here, the bulk of the Advisory Committee should be composed of persons who are acquainted with them at first hand.

OUR READERS WRITE

The Appalachian Bill

Senator John Sherman Cooper
Senate Building,
Washington 25, D. C.
Dear Senator Cooper:

I note that you are co-sponsoring the Appalachian Recovery Act along with Senator Randolph of West Virginia.

In the original Appalachian Recovery Act provision was made for the road from Jackson to the intersection with 23 and 119 beyond Whitesburg; also for work on 119 and 23 on the way from Middlesboro to Ashland.

We certainly are appreciative of the fact that these roads are being put on a 70% federal money basis. However, we would like to ask that the new Appalachian Recovery Act include 80 from its intersection with 23 at Allen to London where it will intersect 175. Improvement of this road would give the people of this area an East and West outlet on a good road. As you know Kentucky 80 between Allen and London is hilly, has far too many curves, and does not follow a very direct route.

Would certainly appreciate hearing from you regarding this matter.

Yours very truly,
ALEX MCINTYRE, Jr.

Christmas Seal Campaign

Hazard Herald
Hazard, Kentucky
THANK YOU!

We are deeply grateful for the excellent help you gave in promoting our recent Christmas Seal Campaign. Your paper's generous use of news articles, cartoons, editorials and other features had a large share in making the campaign a success.

Although a final tabulation of contributions is not made until the end of our fiscal year in March, at this point Christmas Seal contributions are running ahead of last year. This will make possible further intensive efforts toward our ultimate goal—eradication of tuberculosis. It also will allow us to continue to wage a fight against other dangerous respiratory diseases such as emphysema, histoplasmosis and chronic bronchitis.

Again, we appreciate your help during our campaign and throughout the year.

Sincerely,
THOMAS P. SUMMERS
Executive Director

P. S. We will send you a report when our campaign tabulation is complete.

Tribute To Winston Churchill

Perhaps the most enduring monument to the memory of the late Sir Winston Churchill is one he built himself: his books.

The several volumes of history, biography and autobiography and collected speeches by England's wartime Prime Minister are works of genuine literary merit, destined to survive the ages not only for their definitive content, but for the grand, flowing style in which each of them are written.

The world is paying tribute to the great Englishman this week in a variety of ways. Perhaps as fitting a tribute as any would be simply to quote from one of his more celebrated speeches, so that the reader can see for himself the power of the language, as Churchill used it.

The following are the concluding paragraphs from Churchill's speech to Parliament the day after the evacuation from Dunkirk of the remnants of the British and French Armies, in one of England's darkest hours:

"I have, myself, full confidence that if all do their duty, if nothing is neglected, and if the best arrangements are made, as they are going to be made, we shall prove ourselves once again able to defend our Island home, to ride out the storm of war, and to outlive the menace of tyranny, if necessary for years, if necessary alone. At any rate, that is what we are going to try to do. That is the resolve of His Majesty's Government—every man of them. That is the will of Parliament and the nation. The British Empire and the French Republic, linked together in their cause and in their need, will defend to the death their native soil, aiding each other like good comrades to the utmost of their strength. Even though large tracts of Europe and many old and famous States have fallen or may fall into the grip of the Gestapo and all the odious apparatus of Nazi rule, we shall not flag or fail. We shall go on to the end, we shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall defend our Island, whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender, and even if, which I do not for a moment believe, this Island or a large portion of it were subjugated and starving, then our Empire beyond the seas, armed and guarded by the British Fleet, would carry on the struggle, until, in God's good time, the New World, with all its power and might, steps forth to the rescue and the liberation of the old."

BOOK REVIEW

All books reviewed in this column are available at the Bobby Davis Memorial Library, CHURCHILL'S WORKS

Readers are reminded that many of the writings of the late Sir Winston Churchill are available at the Bobby Davis Library.

Included in the library's collection are these volumes:

"Blood, Sweat and Tears"—"The Crisis"—"The Gathering Storm"—"The Grand Alliance"—"Their Finest Hour"—"Inside The Cup"—"A Roving Commission."

A biography titled "Mr. England" by Milton Browner is also available.

Throughout his life, Churchill was a prolific writer. He first won fame with his accounts of service with British forces in India, when he was still in his early twenties. Over the years, the versatile Englishman turned out volume after volume of history and biography, many of which have become standards for the topics they discuss.

One of the most authentic accounts of World War II was written by Churchill, who reports in several volumes not only the military side of the picture, but the behind-the-scenes diplomacy that decided what the military picture would be.

The reader interested in Churchill himself should not miss his own account of his early years, "A Roving Commission."

This short, readable book accounts for Churchill's experiences as a young lieutenant in Shurchill's experiences as a young lieutenant in the British Cavalry, serving in India, and later as a newspaper reporter in the Boer War. The prose sparkles with the wit and polish that later characterized the speeches that inspired a whole world in the dark, early days of World War II.

Equal Justice For Every Man

The serious attention which members of the bar are now giving to the question of the rights of a poor man accused of a crime is a healthy sign that Americans understand more of their tradition problems than they are normally given credit for.

For far too long now, a poor man who is only suspected of a crime has been treated in our courts, and our jails, as if he were already a convicted criminal. A basic premise of our whole judicial system is that a man is to be considered innocent until he is tried and proved guilty. Yet, a man without money for bond must serve time in jail, punished just as surely as the man beside him who has been tried and found guilty.

It is a terrible thing to punish an innocent man. Such punishment damages our entire social fabric. And when it happens and we know it happens, to let it go uncorrected weakens our moral fabric as well.

Today, there are in jail thousands of men and women who have never even been tried for a crime, much less convicted of one. They are prisoners simply waiting for trials that may find them innocent, confined for days, weeks, months, because they have no money or friends who have money for their bail.

At the same time, other thousands of men and women similarly accused are free to live normal lives until their trials come up. The only difference between them is money.

This is why the willingness of our courts to examine these flaws is encouraging. Experiments are being conducted in which only the word of an accused is his bond. Preliminary results indicate that a man's simple premise is by far a better guarantee that he will show up for trial than any amount of money could ever be.

Way Is Paved For Local Metal Products Industry

By GURNEY NORMAN

The question now is not whether new industry will come to Hazard but, rather, how is it going to thrive now that it is here?

If the Hazard branch of the Hayes Metal Products Company thrives anything like its parent organization at Hi Hat, in Floyd County, then eventual success for the operation at the mouth of Lotts Creek is assured.

Arlie Hayes, founder and president of the company that last year expanded to Hazard, started with $6,000 in 1952. He hired some metal workers and began building steel truck beds in a building that formerly housed his used auto parts business at Hi Hat.

With his wife June as a hard-working partner, the company grossed $100,000 two years later. Now, after 13 years, Hayes says his company is a $750,000 a year operation, and still growing.

Hazard quite possibly has an important part to play in that growth.

For about a year now, workmen on loan from the main plant at Hi Hat have been busy in the old location of Reynolds Metals at Lotts Creek, building a few truck beds and doing some repair work on local machinery, but concentrating primarily on the development of new metal products.

Hayes' pet project now is the perfection of what he calls a "press break, shear and punch," a device that can do to quarter-inch sheets of metal about what scissors do to paper.

A prototype of the powerful "tool" has recently been developed and built in Hazard with the expectation of producing them on a large scale once markets are discovered.

Hayes says the machine is designed to meet the needs of small machine and metal working shops who cannot afford larger, expensive similar equipment now on the market.

He says he hopes his product can be offered to small shops for under $10,000, compared to about $30,000 for the cheapest similar equipment now available.

Another Hazard-made Hayes product is the steel, cone-shaped coal storage bin that is beginning to catch the fancy of loading ramp owners who must deal in vast quantities of coal.

Perhaps the largest one now in use is at the Sunfire ramp at Combs. There, in a Hayes storage bin only 23 feet high, 750 tons of coal can be kept at one time.

A structure of the conventional design, while taking up about as much space, has only a fraction of the capacity of a Hayes conical hopper.

This is due to what Hayes calls his "ice cream cone" theory, which allows great amounts of coal to be heaped high above the actual limits of the container.

One ramp operator has said his Hayes bin "is worth its weight in gold" to him.

It saves him over $500 a month, he said, because the increased storage capacity frees him from the need to operate his ramp every day to accommodate the constant influx of coal.

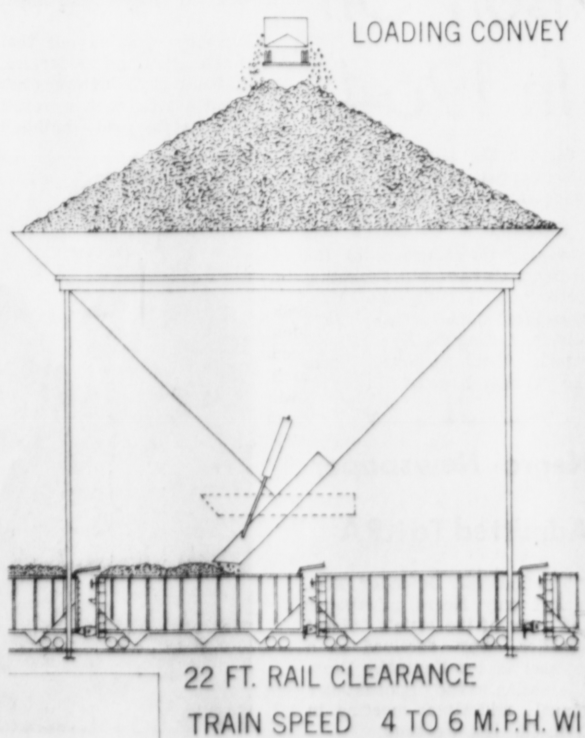

He needs to empty the big bin only about once a week now, and the consequent savings in overhead expenses will soon pay for it.

Other products manufactured by the Hayes Company for the coal industry include mine personnel carrying vehicles, triples, ramps and, on the drawing boards, a new type of coal feeder for use at ramps.

But though the firm is most intimately connected with the coal industry, it by no means has a one-track mind. Among metal items made by Hayes in the past are an airplane hanger, house boats, steel steps, movie screens, even baptistries for churches.

One of Hayes most important products is new ideas. A keen eye for markets and an unrestrained imagination has led Hayes designers in Hazard to go to work on, of all things, a submarine.

One of Hayes Metal's most ambitious projects is a device, still in the planning stage, that will load coal guns right on the main track while the train is moving. The enormous size of the proposed hopper is indicated by the comparison to railroad cars in the drawing.

He doesn't plan to try to corner the nuclear submarine market, though after talking to him one gets the impression that he just might, if you dared him.

He is more interested now in the possible market among sportsmen, particularly skin divers and the like, for a small under-water vehicle of simple and inexpensive design and construction.

There's no ironclad guarantee that such a market even exists, no more guarantee than one man's subtle hunch provides. But Hayes won't worry about that until the plans are finished and a model craft is built, which is a characteristic attitude of his whole operation and may be a major reason for its success.

If the idea of coming to Hazard to design submarines and ice cream cone coal hoppers sounds a bit audacious, Hayes' notions about Hazard's industrial potential may strike some as absolutely preposterous.

He doesn't dismiss tourism, but he isn't impressed with it as a cure-all formula, either.

His thinking is that the Hazard area could develop into a substantial center of production once it decides it wants to. He feels strongly about the need for positive, local, individual initiative before any general improvement in the area's economy will come about.

He cites his own case as an example, pointing out that his business has not only succeeded but has fathered several other original businesses as well.

Several of his former employees have left his company to go into business for themselves, Hayes says but he says it with more pride than disappointment.

"Detroit didn't just happen to be the auto center of the world," Hayes says. "It was planned. What can be done depends on the people's attitudes. Industry depends on the energies of the people involved."

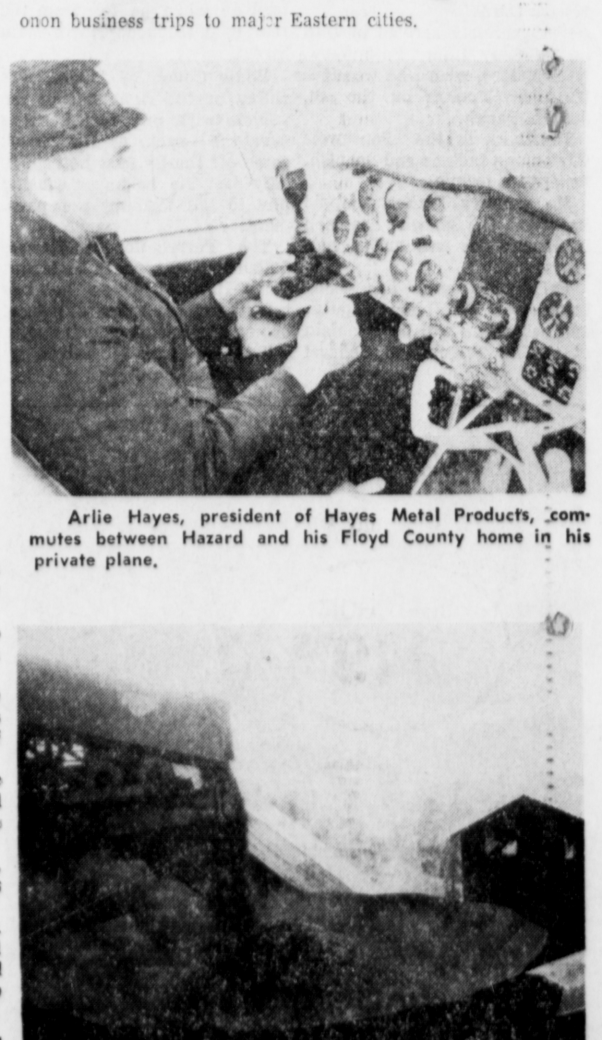

The move to Hazard is not Hayes' first venture outside Hi Hat. After expanding his own local operation, he established in 1956 a similar metal products company, worth $200,000, in Richlands, Virginia.

The venture was an immediate success, as it is today, though it is now owned and operated entirely by Richlands people.

Hayes would like to see the same thing happen in Hazard. He hopes his efforts will encourage local people, using local capital, local skills and local brains, to consider locally-owned small industry, instead of depending on an outside company to come to Hazard's rescue.

Though his home is still in Hi Hat, Hayes spends a good deal of his time in Hazard, commuting back and forth in his 4-place, single engine plane.

A subway accident in New York that cost him a leg several years ago, doesn't impair his proficiency as a pilot. He has logged over 180,000 air miles in the last two years, many of them

This coal bin at the Sunfire ramp at Combs is the largest Hayes bin in use. Only 23 feet high, its cone shape allows coal to be heaped high above the limits of the container, to a capacity of 750 tons.

Wanda Lewis Wins Betty Crocker Award

Wanda Sue Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lewis, Leatherwood School, Slemp, Kentucky, has been named 1965 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. She scored highest in a written homemaking examination taken by senior girls Dec. 1, and is now eligible for state and national honors.

Test papers of all school Homemakers of Tomorrow in the state are currently being judged. The state's highest ranking girl will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills, Inc., sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow, with the state runner-up to be awarded a $500 educational grant. In addition, the school of the State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica from Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc.

Later this spring, the State Homemaker of Tomorrow, together with a school advisor, will join first-place winners and advisors from each of the 50 other states and the District of Columbia in a tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Washington, D. C., and New York City. Climax of the week-long tour will be the naming of the Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. To be chosen on the basis of original test score and personal observation and interviews during the tour, she will receive an increase in her scholarship to $5,000. Second, third, and fourth place winners in the nation will have their grants raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively. The Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow was initiated by General Mills in 1954 to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career. Including this year's record enrollment of more than half a million senior girls in more than 14,000 high schools, the total number of participants during the program's 11-year history stands at four million. Scholarship grants exceed $1 million.

Lothair PTA Will Sponsor Show

Carol Combs Stars In Berea Play

Carol A. Combs, a junior at Berea College, Berea, recently starred in a production of Ralph Arzooanian's LADY ESTHER by the Berea College Players.

Miss Combs, daughter of Mr. S. W. Combs of Hazard, Kentucky, portrayed the role of "Lady Esther", a junk woman who owns her own business, such as it is, and whose main problem is that of loneliness. LADY ESTHER is a play primarily concerned with the pathetic reality of American slums, slums and bums.

Miss Combs has been on the Dean's List for four semesters.

Perry Students Named To Honor Roll At Midway

Three Perry County students have earned the honor of being named to the Cum Laude academic honor roll for the Fall Semester at Midway Junior-Pinkerton High School, according to Dr. Travis Rawlings, academic dean.

General Telephone Company Will Spend $39 Million in Construction

A record-breaking $39,000,000 will be spent by General Telephone Company of Kentucky in the next three years for new construction according to Mr. Frederick C. Rahdert, Company President. In announcing the firm's construction plans, Mr. Rahdert said the amount to be invested exceeds any previous three year period in the Company's history and will bring General Telephone's total investment in buildings, land and equipment to an all time high of nearly $111,000,000.

Mr. Rahdert said that Kentucky's bright economic future, supported by the steady advances of industry, agriculture, education and business in general was a prime factor in the firm's positive decision for the record breaking million dollar a month plus, construction program outlined for 1965, 1966, and 1967. He said the telephone growth expected between now and the end of 1967 will bring the number of phones served by General Telephone to approximately 214,000, a 100% increase since 1957.

Included in the Company's $13,000,000 construction program for this year are: Direct Distance Dialing for Ashland and the surrounding communities, a new dial switching center for Meads, Kentucky in Boyd County, continuation of a multi-million dollar five story building addition and equipment replacement for Lexington's main dial switching center, and completion of a new three level telephone building at Elizabethtown in preparation for Direct Distance Dialing that will become operative around the middle of next year. Also, major dial switching equipment additions will be made in Hazard, Berea, Lancaster, Campbellsville, Elizabethtown, Glasgow, Somerset, Ashland, Morehead, and Lexington, plus smaller additions in 17 other communities served by the Company.

Locally, Hazard District Manager O'Neil Kidd pointed out that several important Perry County projects are included in GenTel's 1965 construction plans. One of the largest projects is installation of new dial switching equipment in the Hazard Telephone building to cost approximately $38,000. The new equipment will be in operation by mid-year and is being installed as a result of the steadily increasing volume of local calling. Kidd also remarked that nearly $200,000 in new telephone cable would be used to expand service in the areas of Hardburly, Heiner, Bulan, Big Creek, Airport Gardens, Kenmont Hollow, Vico, Daisy, Christopher and Sassafras. He said the construction planned for this year would bring the number of telephones served by General Telephone in Perry County to an all time high of 4,521 compared to 2,601 ten years ago.

Elsewhere in the state-wide operation, General Telephone will install equipment, cable and wire, in a service expansion program that involves all of the firm's 50 exchange service areas in 29 Kentucky counties. The Company is part of General Telephone and Electronics Corporation, America's largest independent telephone system now operating in 33 states.

1965 Homecoming Year Endorsed By Kentucky Society

1965 Kentucky Homecoming Year was endorsed by members of the Kentucky Society of Washington at their traditional inauguration eve reception.

Speaking to more than 450 guests, society president Judge J. Gregory Bruce, Bethesda, Md., said that the organization will give its full support to the homecoming proclaimed by Governor Edward T. Breathitt.

An 8 by 12 foot official homecoming poster was displayed at the reception at International Inn. The poster motif is a jockey dressed in racing silks and cap holding out a hitching ring in welcome.

Bruce said that many society members intend to make visits home this year and will attend the regional events being planned by many communities to mark the observance. The Judge, a native of Bell County, and Mrs. Bruce hope to go back some time this summer to see relatives in Boyle County, he said.

Pine Knot High School, whose basketball team had the longest winning streak in the state, had that streak broken by Russell County last weekend.

The 12 region school had won 17 straight over two seasons.

The last time they lost a game prior to last week was to Monticello in the District Tournament last year.

Rumors have it that Butch Beard will be the first Negro to sign a grant-in-aid with the University of Kentucky.

The 6'3" sharpshooter from Breckinridge County was quoted, last week, as saying he would like very much to attend UK.

Look for Kentucky to have no less than seven sophomores on next year's varsity outfit.

Cliff Berger, the 6'8½ center is reported to be a prime candidate for a starting role next year. Bob Tallent, the leading scorer for the yearlings is a good bet to make it big next year. Tallent hails from Maytown.

Other Freshmen that will graduate to varsity duty next season include Jim LeMaster of Bourbon County, Thad Jaraz of Lexington, Gary Gamble of Erlington, Tommy Porter of Christian County, and Steve Clevenger, Clevenger is currently setting out because of trouble with his grades.

Kentucky's Wildcats set two records in their Monday night encounter with Georgia.

It marked the first time that a team had scored over 100 points in the new Coliseum at Athens and it was the first time anyone had hit over fifty percent in one contest, the Cats hit 52%.

Kentucky won it by 102-82 as 6'0" sophomore Louie Dampier poured through 24 points and grabbed a game high of 18 rebounds. Pat Riley tallied 21 before he fouled out and John Adams picked up 20 before being banished on fouls. Terry Mobley and Tommy Kron also hit twin figures with 11 and 10 respectively.

Jerry Conley, the all-state candidate from Jenkins went on a scoring rampage last weekend and moved among the leaders in the 14th region scoring wise. The 6'2" senior guard tallied 40 against Shelby County on Friday and 30 against Oldham County on Saturday night.

Conley was an outstanding halfback on the Jenkins Football team last year.

Lily and London High Schools have been placed on suspension for two weeks by K.H.S.A.A. Commissioner Ted Sanford.

Sanford handed down the rulings after a riot broke out among players and fans of both schools during a game between the two last week.

The fight started when a Lily player tried to separate two others who were fighting over the ball.

Looking at the coming year in sports let's just list a few people that will be on "Hot Seats" once their individual seasons begin.

Joe Namath and John Haurte, two quarterbacks who have gone from the campus rah rah to the AFL's New York Jets.

Between them they got $600,000 in financial luxuries from the Jets.

Johnny Keane will have to restore discipline to the New York Yankees that Yogi Berra didn't have.

Red Schendienst, who took over for Keane at St. Louis, will have to prove that the Cardinals are no fluke.

Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels will have to prove that he's not a one year wonder.

Heavy weight champion Cassius Clay will have to get back at Sonny Liston sooner or later.

Morton Combs, head coach at Carr Creek was heard to say just before the finals of the L.I.T. last week that there were five ball clubs in the 14th region that were very much underrated.

He listed his own club, Hazard, Breathitt County, Fleming, Neon and Jenkins.

S. T. Roach, head coach at Lexington Dunbar says Hazard has improved a lot since the Trinity tourney and will cause a lot of trouble for somebody in March.

Bill Morgan, Hazard's playmaking guard will miss from 4 to 6 weeks of action with a badly sprained ankle.

It is believed he will be back in action by tournament time.

FROSH IN FOCUS

Harry Lancaster is an affable man. At 53 his muscular physique indicates his participation in athletics in earlier days. Harry was an all-around star in sports during his college days at Georgetown, and currently is the number one aide to Kentucky Basketball Coach Adolph Rupp. Among Lancaster's numerous duties at Kentucky is coaching the freshmen cagers. With the varsity going through its darkest campaign in Rupp's 35 years at UK, much attention has been focused on the frosh with an eye toward next season. The press and the fans have been critical of what they have seen.

Lancaster frowned as he asked, "Why is everybody down on this freshman team?" Not waiting for an answer, he continued, "We lost our first game to a real good independent team with Ted Deeken, Chili Ishmael and some other boys who played well for us here. That game could have gone either way, and since then, these kids have won nine straight. That's pretty hard to beat."

Having not been unduly impressed by this crop of yearlings, I wanted to know just which players Lancaster thought would help Kentucky. "Why, I think all the scholarship boys will," he said. "Jim LeMaster is probably further along than any of them right now," he went on, "and is our best defensive man. Jaracz and Gary Gamble have improved tremendously and are doing a good job on the boards. Cliff Berger has come along well, and his size is bound to help us next year. He could help us now!" And he added, "I think all seven of our scholarship players will prove an asset to us somewhere along

He is 6' 8½", and at least one other coach thinks he is potentially a star. Don Knodel, Vanderbilt assistant, says, "We thought he was the best big guy we looked at in high school last year. He was our most wanted recruit."

SPECIFICATIONS

Rear-Loading Refuse Compaction Unit

These specifications are intended to describe a rear-loading refuse collection body 16 cubic yard capacity, exclusive of tail-gate.

Bidders are required to submit bids on the latest model, fully enclosed packer refuse body of the rear-loading type, and completely hydraulically operated. Because of the convenience and advantages of discharging the load by means of a push-out panel, it is the specific intent of these specifications to describe this type of body. Conventional dumping by hoisting the body will not be accepted in answer to this invitation.

The pushout panel that discharges the material collected shall be activated by a double-acting single stage hydraulic cylinder, coupled to a push out bar and operated in conjunction with a single stage clamping hydraulic cylinder. All hydraulic cylinders, valves, and working components of the push-out panel must be readily accessible for maintenance through full opening at front of body. Push-out controls to be located at front of body.

Body hydraulic system to operate at a pressure not to exceed 1600 psi.

The sides, bottom, and front of the body are to be constructed of not less than 11 gauge high tensile steel, heavily reinforced. All body seams except roof are to be welded on both sides and the sides of the body vertically reinforced with 5-3/4 inch channel. The body shall be protected with a baked enamel finish. A platform shall be provided on each side of the rear with safety hand rails for the loaders to ride on between loading stops. Side doors in body are not required.

The rear-loading hopper shall have an opening of not less than eighty (80) inches at the loading edge and have a vertical opening of fifty-six (56) inches, not less than two (2) cubic yard usable capacity, with a loading height of approximately five (5) inches below the truck frame. The entire tailgate will be constructed of Corten steel or equal. The packing plate shall be constructed of 3/16 inch Corten steel or equal. A sliding rear door which completely covers the loading opening shall be provided, which will operate automatically in conjunction with actuation of the packing cycle or manually, and which can be locked in the open position. As this unit will operate on non-selective routes, it must be capable of crushing and packing such items as full-size davenport, tree limbs, bed springs, water heaters, large wooden crates, large cardboard cartons, and refuse of all kinds. Unit must be capable of taking all material through rear hopper and packing mechanism.

Unit to be complete with clearance lights, directional lights at rear.

A suitable truck will be delivered to the successful bidder at its factory. The bid will include mounting f.o.b. body factory.

As this unit is to be used for residential, commercial, and industrial collection, bodies not capable of handling all types of general refuse should refrain from bidding.

Tax exemption certificates will be furnished to the successful bidder.

Special Note: The body must have container attachment which will handle the present containers now in use by the City of Hazard.

One 1961, 16 Cubic Yard Leach Pack Master, Trade-In. Unit Can Be Seen At Chevrolet Garage Here in Hazard. 3T:1:28:2:1:4:c

Breathitt Needy Families Will Receive Food Stamps Next Week

Breathitt County's needy families who have been certified as eligible by the Kentucky Department of Economic Security will begin receiving food stamp coupons next week as the U. S. Department of Agriculture's new food stamp program gets underway.

The Department of Economic Security reports that nearly 612 households, representing about 2661 persons, have applied to participate in the Breathitt County food stamp program. Most families who have applied are expected to be approved for receiving food stamp coupons.

Three other Kentucky counties—Martin, Johnson and Owsley—will begin their food stamp programs next week. About 1235 households in the four counties have applied to participate in USDA's food stamp program.

Food coupons will be issued to families determined by the Department of Economic Security to be in economic need of food assistance. Families receiving some type of public or general assistance under Kentucky's welfare program are considered to be in economic need.

Other families may also receive food coupons provided their family income does not exceed specified amounts. The amount of income permitted to such families is worked out by the Department of Economic Security with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. It is in line with the standards used by the state to determine eligibility for its welfare programs.

Participating families will exchange the amount of money they could normally be expected to spend for food for coupons, and will then receive additional coupons free of charge. The value of bonus coupons issued to families will vary. It will depend upon such factors as normal patterns of food consumption, family size, and income.

USDA pays for the difference between the amount each family pays and the total value of the coupons it gets.

Families use the coupons to buy food in authorized retail stores at existing prices. Except for imported meats, and other food items clearly identified on the package as imported, the coupons may be used to buy any food.

Coupons may not be used to buy alcoholic beverages, tobacco products, soaps, pet food, and similar non-food items. These items were taken into consideration when the purchase requirement was determined.

Food Service School Held Jan. 19-21
At Perry County Health Department

A three-day Food Service School, attended by local restaurant and school lunch managers, waitresses, cooks, and other persons working in public food service, was held at the Perry County Health Center on January 19, 20, and 21st, Dr. Lyndon F. Combs, Health Officer, reports.

The program was sponsored by the Perry County Health Department, the State Department of Health and the University of Kentucky. Six training sessions, held in the afternoon and evening and emphasizing the relationship of good food service to improved business and community health, were presented.

Special consideration was given to food preservation through the control of harmful bacteria, proper dishwashing and waste disposal, good housekeeping, insect and rodent control, demonstration of boning and rolling a turkey, personal appearance and waitress skills, and good menus.

Certificates of attendance were presented to 68 persons by the Health Department.

The instruction offered in the series of training sessions was presented by Dr. Lyndon F. Combs, Health Officer; Mr. Steve Sandlin, Regional Sanitation Consultant, State Department of Health; Mr. Wetzel Shepherd and Mr. Joe Wells, Perry County Sanitarians; Mr. W. M. Montgomery, State Department of Health, Madisonville.

Ward cited the move as part of a continuing program of using to best advantage the experienced engineering personnel of the Department. Johnson's assignment in an "acting" capacity indicates that the move is a temporary one, Ward said.

This same procedure has been and is being followed in other of the state's 12 highway districts to develop a breadth of experience in engineers who can expect to be called upon in the future to accept permanent assignments in positions of large responsibility.

Commissioner Ward said he sent Johnson, who had formerly served as his chief engineer, in aid and at Somerset and Madisonville.

Johnson Is Acting
District Engineer

Russell A. Johnson has been assigned to the Jackson office as acting district engineer. Highway Commissioner Henry Ward announced today.

Ward cited the move as part of a continuing program of using to best advantage the experienced engineering personnel of the Department. Johnson's assignment in an "acting" capacity indicates that the move is a temporary one, Ward said.

Taxpayers Are Reminded To File Before April 15th

Kentucky Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett, Frankfort, has announced that individual income tax returns received through January 22 were running about 15 per cent below the number filed during the same period last year.

Luckett reminded taxpayers that early filing of 1964 Kentucky income tax returns with refunds due will enable the department to process their claims before the annual rush which occurs near the April 15 filing deadline.

Stouffer's Louisville Inn

Stouffer's Decor Intrigues Travelers

Louisville, Ky. — Stouffer's Louisville Inn greets the traveler with more than the refreshment of a comfortable bed and good food. It has the priceless ingredients of historic charm, intrigue and good fellowship built into its design.

The Inn is a distinguished 12-story brick motor hotel that seems to have stepped out in modern dress from the French Quarter of old New Orleans. Three hundred rooms with double-sized beds, provide elegant comfort. Guests enjoy the privacy and quiet of a secluded home.

Decorative ironwork, product of a European art that came to full bloom in New Orleans in the early 1800's, has been liberally used in fencing and as decoration against the mellow red brick walls, both inside and out.

The dining complex on the ground floor is reminiscent of the Montmartre of Paris or the French Quarter of New Orleans. One enters the picturesque lobby with its slate and brick floor, graceful fountain, and luxuriant plants and ferns. A French Provincial cupboard gives it the romantic atmosphere of a New Orleans courtyard of two hundred years ago. The first dining room off the lobby is the Viex Carre. A specially designed chandelier, made of six French oil lamps, glows softly on Mississippi gambler chairs that evoke colorful days of riverboat history.

Next to greet the guest is the delicate charm of the Bienville dining room, with its North and South sections divided by interesting see-through cabinet in French Provincial design, an elegant showcase for some of the rare art objects that add to the restaurant's charm. The collection of paintings in these rooms merits special attention, some of them primitive oils of the period. A cocktail lounge and bar introduces an Old English note with its arresting painting of Victorian tipplers over the bar.

The Inn has two floors of motel rooms directly accessible from the outside, and nine floors above of hotel accommodations which include luxurious executive suites.

The color schemes of the rooms range from marigold in the carpets, and ivory and gold walls, to emerald green carpets and pale green walls. Single rooms have one wall of natural wood paneling. Pictures and prints depict the colorful life and landscapes of old New Orleans and the days of the river.

BUCKHORN

Baptist Church Adds Room, Plans Other Additions

By J. Anderson Hamblin

The Rock Bottom Baptist Church has added an Educational annex to the main building.

In the near future New Pews and church furniture will be added in the main Worship Auditorium.

This reporter, John J. McIntosh, and H. J. Hamblin made a trip to the Baptist Preacher's School (Clear Creek Springs) Pineville, Kentucky and placed the order with the church.

Russell K. Hamblin spent a week with his relatives in Buckhorn.

Mr. and Mrs. John Minter and daughter Rita, spent the weekend in Marion, Indiana, visiting their son Larry Joe and wife Nannie and Mr. Minter's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Rice.

Walker Couch and Butch Carter of the Agency have been hospitalized in the Appalachian Hospital for Medical Observation this past week.

Your reporter has made remarkable recovery after undergoing surgery at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington.

Milton Eversole is home and doing quiet well after spending a month in the Louisville Veterans Hospital.

Aunt Emmaline Morris is doing very well. She is always in good spirits but she has her bad days.

Edward White and his wife and son are back home after visiting relatives in Knoxville, Tennessee.

School is back in session after a break for the bad weather.

boats. The Inn was decorated by Hubbuch of Kentucky.

But the frosting on the cake is Stouffer's newest sky restaurant, the Cup and Stirrup, on the 12th floor. Picture windows give a panoramic view of downtown Louisville, its famous bridges, the Indiana hills and the North-South Expressway (I-65) which comes almost to the Inn's doorstep.

The Cup and Stirrup looks older and rougher than the usual tackroom. Immediately drawing attention is the very old wood used in walls and ceiling. Here, preserved to be enjoyed for the historic tales it evokes, as well as its unusual texture and color, is the wood from the old barn that was dismantled from Locust Grove, the plantation of General George Rogers Clark from 1809 to 1818, when he died. Paintings of dogs and horses enliven the walls and vie for interest with the large collection of curios—a powder horn made of carved gourd, a pair of handmade wooden skates, handmade farm tools, and a rare print of the horse "Kentucky".

A Grand Ballroom on the second floor can seat 450 for dinner and larger groups for meetings. Two smaller rooms on the second floor and two large meeting rooms on the ground level opposite the swimming pool are a part of Louisville Inn's convention facilities.

Other services include a French-style barbershop of side.

Girl Scouting Influences Lives Of Girls by Teachings and Training

Girl Scouting is a flexible, informal educational program that influences the lives of girls by reinforcing and supplementing the teachings of the home, the school, and the church or synagogue. It carries on in small groups under trained adult leadership.

Girls from 7 through 17 of Morgan County and Camp all races, creeds, nationalities, economic and geographical background who accept the Girl Scout Promise and Laws are welcome to join.

Through a wide range of activities in the arts, the home, and the outdoors, girls gain new knowledge and skills which they are encouraged to put to use for the benefit of their families, friends, and communities.

Troop activities for all ages reflect the elements that give Girl Scouting its distinctive character: adherence to the ethical code embodied in the Girl Scout Promise and Laws; troop management; service; citizenship; international friendship; and health and safety.

The Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council, whose jurisdiction covers 52 counties of Eastern Kentucky owns and operates five Camp Sites located within the 52 county area. Girl Scouts as well as many other girls enjoy camping, which is the Girl Scout Program in the Out-of-Doors at these sites during the summer months. Support for many of the activities of the program, and the development of the camping properties come from the sale of Girl Scout Cookies conducted once a year throughout the council area.

January 29th has been announced as the date when all Girl Scouts will begin soliciting orders for these cookies. Delivery of all cookies will be made during Girl Scout Week, March 5-12. Each troop selling cookies retains a portion of the sale price for the use of the troop with the balance of the receipts being forwarded to the Council Treasurer to be used for the development of the total camping program.

Selective Service To Increase Call For April and May

According to information received from Headquarters U S Army Second Recruiting District, at Fort George G. Meade, Md., the Selective Service System will increase its National Service call to over 10,000 for April and for May.

In the month of June the total is expected to increase to over 14,000. In anticipation of this increase, the Selective Service Officials will be increasing the number of men they send in for examining and testing at the regional Armed Forces Examining Stations.

Young men who are eligible for the draft, should visit their local U S Army Recruiter and find out about the many opportunities that would be open to them should they enlist rather than be drafted.

The only American car that's anti antifreeze and pro-snow
(The difference is its air-cooled rear engine)

'65 Corvair by Chevrolet

Corvair's engine won't freeze. Or boil over. It can't.

It's air-cooled. It has no radiator. It never needs water or antifreeze. The weight of Corvair's engine over its rear wheels gives it built-in traction without snow tires.

The engine weight off its front wheels gives it built-in handling ease without power steering. And Corvair is the only American car, besides Corvette, that has 4-wheel independent suspension.

The Corvair Corsa is the only American car you can order with a six-cylinder engine as powerful as a lot of eights—a 180-hp.

In fact, it's the only car in the world available with a factory-installed supercharged engine.

And the '65 Corvair is different from any other Corvair ever built. This year it's completely restyled. With soft vinyls. Thick carpeting. A roomier interior. And a touch of the continent in its design.

We're proud we can show you a car that stands out from the rest. It makes us stand out a little, too.

Farmers Should Order Strawberry Plants Now

Paul Keen — County Agricultural Agent

Farmers desiring to set strawberry plants this spring should order plants now. Last year several farmers were unable to get plants because of short supply.

The Big Sandy Strawberry Growers Association has reserved a large supply of Pocahontas plants and has agreed to hold a supply for Perry County if enough growers are interested. The cost is $11.00 per 1000 plants delivered to Hazard.

Strawberries properly cared for will produce an income in excess of $1000.00 per acre. Strawberries require lots of labor and farmers having a good supply of family labor will find them a very profitable crop. 4000 plants set one acre.

There was an excellent local market for home strawberries in 1964 so all berries produced can be sold locally.

Strawberry grow best on fertile land that gets lots of sunshine and that was in a cultivated crop last year.

Farmers desiring assistance in ordering strawberry plants should contact the Extension Office located under Hazard Post Office.

Planning the Garden
Success in almost everything you do is the result of good planning: a garden is no exception. A well planned garden will provide a steady and balanced supply of vegetables throughout the growing season, and enough vegetables for freezing, canning, and storing for out-of-season months.

Here are some things to consider in planning your garden:

1. Allow 1/40 acre (1,000 square feet) per person, if space is available for all vegetables including potatoes.

2. Draw a map of the garden to scale. Locate the rows of vegetables and label them, showing the date to plant each.

3. Determine the yearly vegetable needs of the family. You can find helpful information on this in the planning card H.E. 378 at your county agricultural extension office.

4. Make a list of vegetable needs and transplants you need. Locally grown transplants are much better than shipped plants. Order early while high-quality seeds are available.

Basic vegetables for the home garden are: beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, sweet corn, kale, lettuce, mustard, onions, peas, peppers, potatoes, radishes, tomatoes, turnips.

If you have enough space for 1/20 acre per person, you may include other vegetables.

5. Group short-season crops together: lettuce, turnips, mustard, peas, etc.

6. Group tall-growing crops together: corn, tomatoes, okra, etc.

7. Move vegetables crops to a new area in the garden each year. Do not plant them in the exact space they grew the year before.

A. Some common vegetables belong to the same family. They could not follow each other. Example of one family is cabbage, broccoli, and cauliflower.

B. Rotating crops each year controls soilborne diseases better.

8. Some vegetables have much deeper root systems than others. Rotate so that a vegetable with a shallow root system follows a crop with a deep root system.

9. A well planned garden does not have weed patches in it in late summer.

10. If your garden does not provide 1/40 acre per acre, use it to produce high-priced crops. Crops such as potatoes, needing a large area to supply family needs, may not be wise choice to grow.

REMEMBER: That an excellent garden plan, developed while sitting around the kitchen stove, is of little value unless it shows up in your gardens.

Bless my hide folks its first he is on then she blows a spell, this the 22nd of January, by granny she is blowing to yonder side with a temperature of 63 degrees. Which looks like I am going to have to shuck my long handles back to the scanty pants once again. This is sorta hard on your old bones. I am like Chalmers Lin. don he thinks that if we didn't have too many weather reports it would cease a certain amount of worry if and when it would happen for better or worse. He says that it is like a woman that gets the forecast it doesn't happen for 24 hours she is always worrying whether it is going to weather whether or not. He thinks that if it was as it was in olden days to take it as it comes, without all the worry connected with all patience until the big hawk lights. I think Chalmers has something on this, we are not allowed to think too much for ourselves any more. We are losing our sense of responsibility of sniffing out the weather as our forefathers did, we don't pay any attention to the sun, moon, dark nights, clouds, and etc. We just turn on the Radio or T.V. and let them think for us.

SIGNS ARE SHOWING

Up all along in regard to an early spring so some of the middle age folks can recall from what they have learned from their oldsters J. W. Reeves from up Christopher way told me this date that he saw three robins hopping around in his yard, he said he was sure that they were looking for worms, which he stated gave him the same idea to start before too long getting his fishing worms in plenty. Thanks to you Mrs. Vesta Hamilton in regard to perfect harmony with Mrs. Ben Woods to the year of 1932 that was milder than this one has been. Since both of you have come up with about the same answer, Just a word in regard to Vesta who is knocking on the 80th year of age, has told me some most interesting stories of hunting and fishing, working in the log woods, and doing about anything a man did. Yes, that is the pioneers that made Eastern Ky., she and husband John will be married 61 years come his MAY, 1965. John is 83 years young. Only wish space would permit for me to print all of the people I have known such as Vesta Hamilton, Mrs. Ben Woods, and my grandmother Aunt Bink Davis; also my mother Mrs. Sallie Davis. If many of you gals that have come along in the last twenty years had to work and do the things to raise a family. You would have given up a long time ago. If you women today had to go into the woods for a short stroll you would freeze to death with all the lace and thin skin clothes you wear today. You powder and cream you curl and you snarl be, cause your hair won't do what you want it to do. I believe that if you pitched in too old fashioned hog killing, or something that will keep you away from a thermostat that is drying out your hair as well as your skin, just try sleeping in a room with plenty of fresh air blowing in. That will put the rose color back in your cheeks without having to use so much paint and powder and etc. Of course I know that would cut down tremendous on all the articles that you see and hear being advertised to day. If many of you could get a little home-made soap and take a few baths in it and scour off all that make believe stuff for a few times I am confident that it would make you feel better, plus looking better. You won't let one wear off until you are plastered with another new coat that has recently come out. Honest I have seen some of you that I believe that it would take a hog scrapper to get it down to the natural skin again.

BOYS COME TO MY

Rescue, I am confident that I will need your help after this article, these modern day gals won't like this at all, just tell them to get an old time remedy, Mutton or Beef Tallow will do them about as much good. I am sure a lot better in many cases. Many of you fellows have hung up your guns for this season, I really don't know why, we still have the wiley GROUSE to hunt through February 28th. Some of you are taking advantage of this our native bird, many of you are doing real well, Mark and Luke Walters, Ora Davis, Shelby Jones, Ralph Napier, Carl Madden, Bill Davis, Jim Caudill are about the only ones I can hear of taking this bird, I know that a certain group of you have bagged 21 of this fine bird on three hunts. I will admit it is a hard bird to bag until you learn how to hunt them. We just don't have enough hunters that are willing to learn his habits and the terrain that he changes so often. David Combs is trying to learn them, which I am sure he will, he is young and has the stamina it takes until you to hunt this mountain bird.

GIVE THEM A FAITH TO LIVE BY...

Our times may be unique—both in the tears we and our children must face, and the conflicting distractions around us. Is religious faith enough to cope with our troubled world? The answer is this: If you care, the same place where your faith is built can be made a rallying point for the kind of realistic human involvement that can produce a stirring change—for the better—in your community, in the world, in your heart. Show the way. Give them a Faith to live by. This week, go to worship—and put your Faith to work, all week long.

Yes, who does he think he's going to impress?

RED BIRD BEVERLY NEWS

Friends Meet For Sunday Dinner;

Writer Discusses Contest On Roads

By Amanda Slusher
Last night my brothers and nephew were concentrating over a nice game of cards, only pausing long enough to drink some steaming hot chocolate.

Between games my mother mentioned the subject for the new contest that's coming up for March. She quoted the subject, "How Would Good Roads help my Community?"

Since we Kentuckians are affected by poor roads, this is an important subject that needs much thought and discussion every time possible.

Good roads for my neighbors will give the same answer as to what good roads would mean to my community.

Literally speaking, Good Roads would mean a better system of travel and communication, as well as beauty, comfortable thoughts for sight seers, and tourists.

Good roads are an aid for education and industry and a kind invitation to tourists and visitors.

Sunday dinner January 24th at the home of Mr. George M. Slusher, on Red Bird at Beverly, Kentucky, was a happy one for the entire family. The rain came down in torrents all day long but didn't prevent several hours of fellowship.

On the spur of the moment with the dark clouds hanging over and a down pour of rain, in walked two fellows, that had been our child hood, school day playmates of practically 40 years.

The hour was ticking at 11 o'clock and plenty of hot food was awaiting the family and the company.

Mother said, "I'll wait a few minutes until they rest," then I'll call them for dinner. There was no time lost at all, every one was anxious to tell of his story and to hear each other. Everyone seemed happy and enjoyed the fellowship hours in the Slusher home.

Dinner was ready and the invitation given for all to come to eat. Robert Helton and Arthur Baker with the family enjoyed a dinner of Ham and dumplings, cornbread, potatoes and everything that makes up a good dinner.

Letcher County News Notes...

By John Lucas

The Letcher County Court House is now getting its finishing touch now and it is a fine building. The new Jail looks good enough to live in and everything is in fine shape. It won't be long before the various offices will be moving back into their respective places.

The Columbia Broadcasting System is the work in the County done by the Jobless Fathers and the swinging bridges that has been built so they are filming it to put on the TV.

The County Road people are clearing the rightaway from McRoberts to Dunham across the mountain to Elkhorn creek over the old route that had been made for the movement of supplies by wagon, 54 years ago.

John Henry Hall who wrecked his Taxi on Cumberland River some time ago near the Harlan - Letcher County line, and his passenger also are improving and able to be up and about.

I noticed that the Barbers of Whitesburg are organized, and all good union men should patronize them and help to make Union strong.

The funeral of Henry Adams was held at the Mayking Regular Baptist Church Sunday, January the 24th. Mr. Adams in life was reported to be a good man and had been a Deacon in the Mayking Church many years.

Russia is going to fire two bombs that is not going to be effective then they are going to sound a re-call. We of the United States are GOD'S people, Abrahams seed, just as the Danish, the Irish, the English and others is. The Irish are Manassaths people, the Danish is from the tribe of Dan. GOD is going to be with us and we should walk uprightly before him and all man kind.

WHEELS

Of all inventions made of Iron or Steel the greatest must have been the Wheel. Big wheels little wheels to lighten our load. Wheels, wheels to speed us on the road. The inventor of wheels praise has never been sung. But on fames ladder he must have reach the top most rung. Wheels. Wheels keep for us time tinny and small. Surely the invention of wheels must be the greatest of all.
